

Animal Characteristics

Beluga Whale: a kind of whale

Bird: birds are warm-blooded animals that have wings and lay eggs

Blue Whale: a kind of whale that is endangered

California Condor: a kind of bird that is endangered

Duckbilled Platypus: a kind of mammal that lays eggs instead of giving birth to live young (which is rare for mammals)

Elephant: an endangered mammal

Fish: fish are cold-blooded animals; fish live in the water and do not breathe air (they breathe water); most (but not all) fish lay eggs

Goldfish: a kind of fish

Great White Shark: a kind of fish that is endangered; a fish that gives birth to live young instead of laying eggs (which is rare for fish)

Horse: a kind of mammal

Mammal: a warm-blooded animal; most (but not all) mammals give birth to live young

Ostrich: a flightless bird

Parakeet: a kind of bird

Whale: a mammal that lives in the water but breathes air